Good morning, everyone, and welcome to Youth Science Day at the city library. First, a few changes to the programme. The robotics workshop was planned for room 4, but it has moved to room 7, on the second floor. The talk about space was going to start at eleven; however, the speaker’s train is late, so it will now begin at half past twelve. Lunch is in the café downstairs. Sandwiches are on sale there, but drinks are free for all participants — just show your badge. At the end of the day we’ll give a prize for the best project. Last year the prize was a book voucher; this year the winner will get a telescope. Finally, if you lose anything, please speak to Dilfuza at the information desk — not at the café.
